AI Overview

The Alabama GED test comprises four sections:

Reasoning Through Language Arts, Mathematical Reasoning, Science, and Social Studies. Each section is computer-based and features various question types, including multiple-choice, fill-in-the-blank, drag-and-drop, and extended response questions. Test-takers can take each section individually at their own pace, and a passing score for each subject test is 145 or higher. 🔗

Test Subjects

The GED exam covers four core subject areas: 🔗

- Reasoning Through Language Arts (RLA): Focuses on reading for meaning, identifying and creating arguments, and understanding grammar and language. 🔗
- Mathematical Reasoning: Includes topics like basic math, geometry, basic algebra, and graphs and functions. 🔗
- Social Studies: Requires understanding of American social studies concepts, reading graphs and charts, analyzing historical events, and using reasoning to draw conclusions. 🔗
- Science: Involves reading for meaning in science, designing and interpreting experiments, and using numbers and graphics in science. 🔗

Question Types

The test is entirely computer-based and uses several question formats: 🔗

Test Structure

- Computer-Based: All sections of the test are administered on a computer. ⓘ
- Individual Testing: You do not have to take all four tests at once; you can take them separately. ⓘ
- Passing Score: A score of 145 or higher on each of the four subject tests is required to earn the high school equivalency credential. ⓘ
- Retakes: If you don't pass a section, you can retake that specific portion of the exam after waiting 30 days. ⓘ
